Teachers & Board

Maria Rodrigues

"My image of a child reflects a belief that each child is unique, strong and beautiful, each with their own ambitions desires and needs. My responsibility as an educator is to foster these ambitions by promoting each child's self-esteem and sense of awareness. Each child needs to feel important and needs to be listened to."

Different
Methods Of Expression

Our curriculum is play-based and draws concepts from both Reggio Emilia and Montessori philosophies. This leads to a flexible curriculum that allow the children's interests to drive the learning and introduce students to concepts in the context of their surroundings.

For example, exploring sciences (life cycles), math (counting), and language arts (vocabulary) while gardening in our community garden.

From Our Parents

"The teachers were so patient, supportive of our child's particular needs and their help was an encouragement to our whole family."

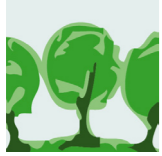

"All in all, through play and exposure, my sons have been learning a lot and prepared them for Kindergarten. Definitely recommend."

"Both my kids had a great experience, they looked forward to every day at school."

"The school is small and personal. The teachers are always available to help, listen and share comments or advice, creating a wonderful sense of community."
